DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 7, 8, 11, 12, 15, 18, and 19 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 7-10 of U.S. Patent No. 6,676,659. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they claim a method of cutting tissue in a body passage and a catheter handle, where the method includes, inter alia, selecting a catheter having first and second lumens, actuating an electrosurgical wire in the second lumen, orientating and rotating the electrosurgical cutting wire by rotating a handle relative to a proximal end of the catheter, and indicating an amount of rotation via a visual indication; and where the catheter handle includes a rotatable coupling configured to allow free rotation of a proximal end of a catheter, a clamping member configured to engage a proximal end of a device extending through a lumen of a catheter, where the device includes a cutting wire, and where the handle includes a rotation indicator that is a visual indicator.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is not certain whether the catheter handle includes a catheter and a device comprising a cutting wire extending from a proximal end of the catheter to and connecting to a distal end of the catheter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 7, 8, 10-12, and 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Weaver et al. (5,599,300). Weaver et al. disclose, in figures 4 and 34-36 and in col. 19, lines 11-66, a catheter handle and a method for its use in a method for cutting tissue in a body passage, where the handle (202) and the method include a catheter (12) with proximal and distal ends and first and second lumens (32, 34) and an electrosurgical cutting wire (206), where the handle (202) engages and rotates the proximal end of the cutting wire (about its axis during assembly) or a device and has a clamping member (224), a rotatable coupling (14, see also col. 19, lines 16-20) attaching the handle to the catheter, a rotation lock (17, a threaded luer lock hub according to col. 19, lines 52-60), and a rotation indicator or a visual indicator of handle rotation (distal surface portion of 17).

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Agro et al. (6,746,442) teach a catheter handle, catheter, and a device with a cutting wire.
